Santa's Elves set registration dates for gift-giving event Program seeks to assist underserved children

LITTLE ELM (September 27, 2016) Registration for Little Elm's Santa's Elves program will occur on October 6, 13, 20, and 27 in the Little Elm Public Library's Programming Room from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., each evening.

"The Santa's Elves program provides Christmas gifts to Little Elm children who are not part of any other gift-giving program and not enrolled in the public schools," said Kathy Phillips, Town Secretary. "It's designed for families with children from infants to 12 years of age who are home-schooled, in alternate schools or have special needs."

To register, parents must fill out an application, available for pickup at the Library or at the Utility Billing Department. The completed application along with a picture ID, proof of residency such as a water or electricity bill, and proof of income must be presented to program coordinators on the registration evenings. These are the only times that registration will be conducted. While no registration will occur during business hours, applications can be picked up during regular office hours.

The Library is located at 100 West Eldorado Parkway and Utility Billing is on the second floor of the building.

There is no charge for participating in the program. Families with children who are receiving gifts from other programs in the area are asked not to submit an application, since Santa's Elves gifts are limited, and the emphasis of the program is to provide presents to those children who would otherwise not receive one.

"We just want to make sure that no child spends Christmas morning without a present," said Phillips. "Even if there's not a Christmas tree in the house, we want to make sure each child is remembered and feels loved."

The program, in one form or another, has been in existence in Little Elm for several years. It obtains toys or monetary donations from local businesses, groups and individuals, then pairs up gifts with requests from participating families. All funds collected by the program are used to purchase the gifts.

All of the coordinators and helpers are volunteers, donating their personal or vacation time to coordinate the registrations, catalogue and store gifts, match presents with requests and distribute the gifts to the appropriate families. The majority of the volunteers are Town of Little Elm employees, either recruited by Phillips or stepping forward on their own.

"It's a labor of love for us. Many of our volunteers spend countless hours of their own time to ensure the program is successful," she added.

More information can be obtained by contacting Phillips at (214) 975-0404 or Ida Orlds (214) 975-0454.
